There's a place in this county of ours
 That we hold above the rest.
 It's where we've spent our happiest hours
 Millersburg High--the school we think the best.
 For many a friendship we've made here.
 The school grew as we journeyed along.
 It bore with us every joy and tear.
 It seemed to sing, when we sang our school song.
 Freshmen, Sophomore, Juniors and then
 We were considered the top of them all.
 And the addition was added to the school, when
 The Other Gym was nearly ready to fall.
 We very seldom make note of these
 Until we are Seniors I guess.
 But I am sure that everyone agrees
 There is no place like M. H. S.

EDITORIAL

Some one once said, "There is nothing so dangerous as standing still when all the world moves on." All of you will agree, the world is moving on, so the Millerette Staff decided to venture on a new project this year, that of putting out an annual. This has been done only once before in Millersburg High School, although Senior Editions have been put out each year.

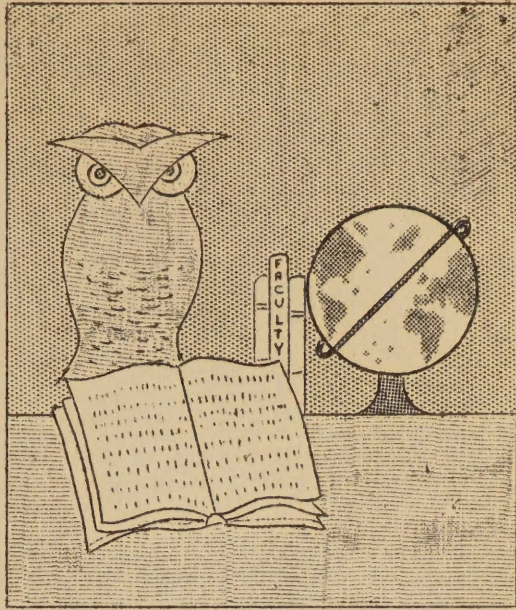

After deciding on this project, the Staff realized they had a big job before them, so they dug in and started things moving. Difficulties arose only to be conquered one by one. Meetings became hard to schedule because of other activities, but as each evening drew to a close, the book was nearer completion.

Finally that never to be forgotten time came, the book was finished. Many a tired person heaved a sigh of relief, but in that sigh there was a feeling of pride and joy; they had successfully accomplished the goal they had been striving for, something new in the way of an annual, a book to be proud of, a book that would be of interest to everyone. But even more was accomplished; we learned to cooperate, to work under hardships, and still come through on top.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank Miss Cripe for her splendid help on this and all the other papers printed this year, and the Staff for their fine cooperation during the year.

OUR FACULTY

Lincoln said, "I will study and prepare myself; then the chance will come!"

You are all familiar with the story of how Lincoln borrowed a book and then read it by the light of the fire place. The rain ruined the book during the night and Lincoln worked for the owner to pay for it. How many of us would walk after a book and be our own teacher in order to improve ourselves?

How much more fortunate we are today than Lincoln was, and yet he attained the great goal coveted by many, that of fame, worldwide renown, and above all, deepest love and greatest respect of those he held dominion over.

Very few students cherish a book or the attainment of knowledge that they would suffer the hardships Lincoln did in order to prepare himself for his life's work. Because of this lack of initiative on the part of most students we need guides. Such guides we find in the Faculty of M.H.S. All of the teachers have prepared themselves to give to the students the best of their knowledge received from years of careful study and preparation.

Some students seem to think a teacher is a necessary evil found in every schoolroom instead of a friend and an experienced guide to help them reach a higher goal and be a real steward.

Many statues have been erected in memory of Lincoln's high ideals and for what he has done to help make America what it is. Such statues could be erected for our own and other faculties as well, and thus pay them a great homage in bronze. They prefer, however, to see their efforts show in the development of dependability and individual initiative in their pupils.

The Seniors wish to thank the teachers for their kind cooperation and guidance during the past twelve years.

DEMOCRACY IN EDUCATION

One of the most important problems before the administration of a school, is that of establishing and maintaining a democratic regime at all times. The day of the autocrat in school administration is fast passing if not gone entirely. Democracy in the management of industrial and social institutions is common outside of the field of education and must be in vogue in the schools. There are several reasons for this. In the first place, leadership at the present time demands democracy in the direction of the personnel of any institution. In the second place the training of pupils for active and intelligent citizenship in a real democracy in adult life calls for such practice in the schools during their impressionable years.

The teachers participate in all administrative problems, not only in the execution of the plans but in their foundation. Such participation results in a unity of purposes, and in the accumulation of valuable ideas and suggestions from the entire group. These contributed suggestions are most valuable. It means democracy and the confidence and assistance of all.

THE FACULTY

Small of stature, big of mind,
Friendly, true and clever,
Probably Mr. Larimer, our principal,
Will remember our doings forever.

We have a teacher quite fair,
With smiling eyes and curly hair,
We're sure there was never a lady more pleasant,
Her name is Miss McDowell at present.

Mr. Davis is his name,
He as the Senior sponsor has won fame,
He doesn't smile a lot, but don't you fear,
His heart is running over with good cheer.

Mr. Oyler came from Milford, his teaching to begin,
Though he's just been with us for awhile, he many friends did win
There's a friendliness about him, though of quiet disposition,
We think he has been successful in filling Mr. Luke's position.

Whenever a smile leaves her face
A kind expression takes its place,
In publishing our paper, she is our guide,
When work's to be done, Miss Cripe is by our side.

Although he had to leave us,
He was a help to the Juniors the first of the year,
And when anyone needed a helping hand,
Mr. Luke was always near.

Miss Honderich, as a Home Ec. teacher, fame has won,
She is in for high school joy and fun,
She was plenty of help to the girl's Physics class,
As her ideas and thoughts to the girls did pass.

He can state, relate, debate,
No low post will be his fate,
And oft his ideas pass around
No better advice than Mr. Juday's can be found.

Miss Zook has sweet charm, ease, and grace,
Always doing the right thing in the right place,
Unselfishness is her creed,
Which she practices in word and deed.

Miss Gangwer's motto is: "When the work's done
Then it is time for fun."
She taught Latin students to translate,
And now is sponsoring grades seven and eight.

THE TRUSTEE SPEAKS

Day after day and year after year, time is swiftly passing by and with it the increasing pace to keep up with.

Everything else, as well as time, has marched on through the centuries until today we are living in a different world than our ancestors lived in.

Our educational system has advanced rapidly with the rest, for which we are duly proud. Athletics and many other organizations are fairly new and rapidly advancing, but here we must tread carefully, for fear we may go to school for our physical well being rather than to increase mental ability. Public speaking and dramatics should not be neglected by any student regardless of his seemingly backwardness and awkwardness, for out of this we shall see some of our most intellectual speakers of tomorrow.

Those who have received their diplomas and are looking back to high school as the past must still continue in educational lines. A day without some new knowledge added has been a failure somewhere.

We must have a goal set high and continually reach for it. The one who is always striving upward seldom slips backward. Never come to the place where you are satisfied and ready to settle down and quit striving for anything better, for I feel the satisfied person must be slipping backward because time is marching on and if you have stopped marching, you are continually dropping back.

All our life is made up of tiny minutes but if you remember this your past minutes will not be regrets. I have just a minute, with only sixty seconds in it, forced upon me, can't refuse it; didn't seek it; didn't choose it, but it's up to me to use it. I must suffer if I lose it, give account if I abuse it. Just a tiny little minute, but eternity is in it.

L. M. Hartsough

THE MARCH OF TIME

Our great American forefathers realized the importance of established culture and therefore founded a system of education simultaneously with colonization. They were soon dissatisfied with the training their common schools had to offer and in a desire to have a system of higher education the Latin Grammar school was established in Boston 1635. Many such schools were founded in the New England Colonies. In general it may be said that the Latin Grammar school was the dominant institution for secondary education in America until approximately the middle of the eighteenth century. The purpose of the Latin Grammar school was to master Latin and to enter College and thence one of the professions. The life of the boy attending a Latin Grammar school was not an enviable one; being required to apply himself eight or nine hours daily to the study of one subject, Latin.

By the middle of the eighteenth century the time was ripe in America for a new institution of secondary education: The Latin Grammar school had been Aristocratic, and its curriculum narrow. Social ideas were changing and there was a demand for something else. Especially was this true with the rise of the democratic spirit which was manifest during the Revolution. This caused students to turn from a school fostering social distinction to one of a more democratic nature. Thomas Jefferson, the educational leader that he was, expressed the sentiment of the time when he urged education as a means of securing successful self-government; this need was better filled by the development of the Academies which were the dominant institutions of secondary education from 1750 or 1775 to 1850. Stress was placed on the study of things rather than words.

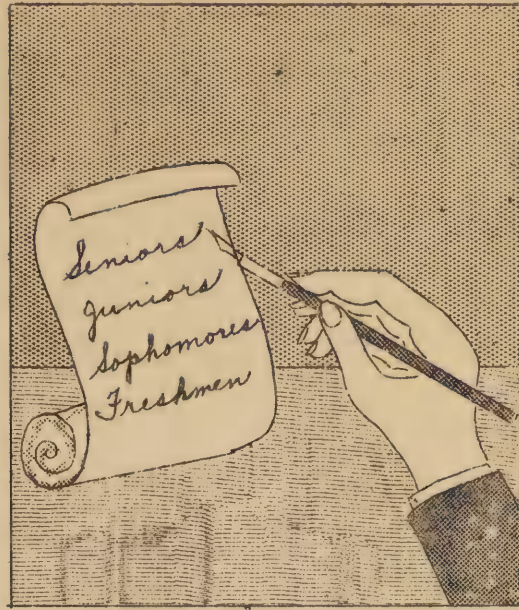

By 1850 there was a general complaint against the academy that the training given was not practical or important for the middle class. A new institution of secondary education to be supported by public taxation was founded known as the High School to furnish an education which would be servicable to pupils not destined to enter college.

There are approximately 25,000 high schools in the United States today. In the modern high school we emphasize the basic principles of education which were stressed in the Latin Grammar School and also the Academy; that of scholarship and the mastery of subject matter. Mingled with this, the students participated in many social activities, clubs, parties, athletics, music, class-meetings, and dramatics, which are very worth while. There is the broad offering of courses consisting of three curricula, College entrance, Vocational and Commercial; with the better equipped and constantly growing laboratories which enable every student in this day of compulsory education to develop his abilities along the line of his natural inclinations.

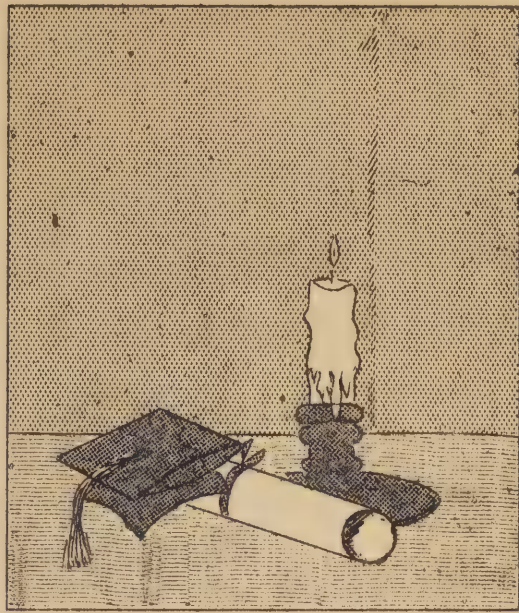

Time Marches On. What will the future bring?

SENIORS

CLASS POEM

We, the Seniors of '39
Have reached one goal at last
Though we are following the March of Time
We stop and look at our past.

Our first March was our Freshman Year
Perhaps we acted green
But we had courage to overcome the fear
Of those three long years unseen.

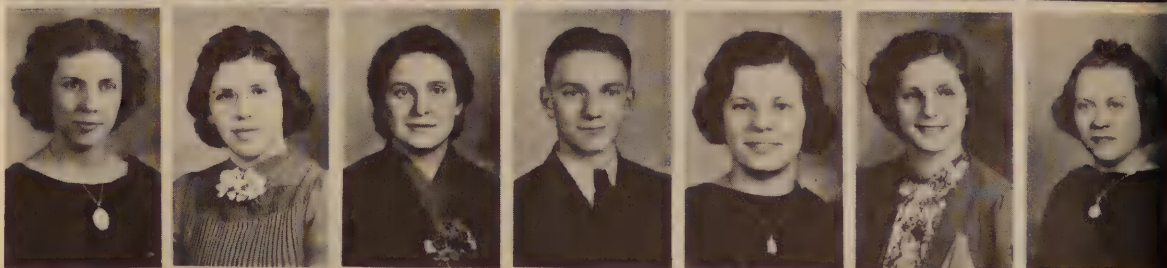

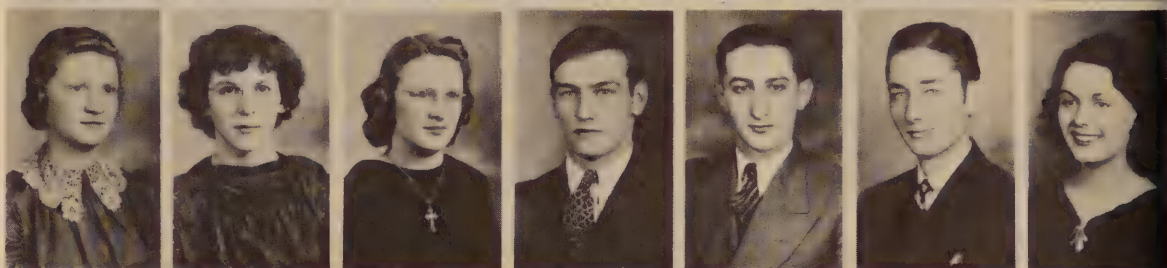

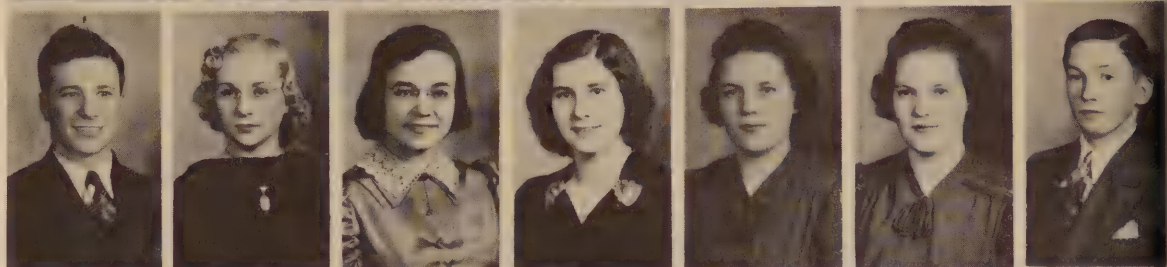

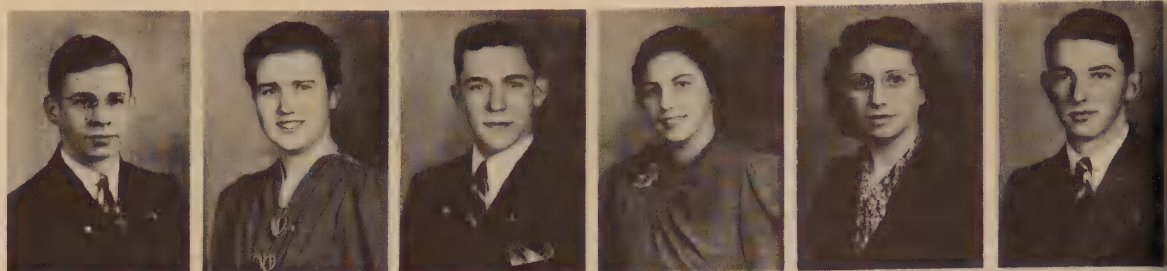

Then we marched as a Sophomore Band
And we tackled the obstacles on the way
Because we saw in a far-off land
The class of a future day.

So, we as Juniors traveled again
On this March feeling quite proud
For all our troubles came in vain
And we stood with the dignified crowd.

Now, we are That crowd--Seniors of '39
Our Sponsor, Mr. Davis, teaching the rule
We find we are going in the March of Time
"Out of School Life, Into Life's School."

SYNOPSIS

Henry Peck Sr. finds that keeping Henry Jr. in Boarding school, along with his other financial obligations, is putting too much of a strain upon his pocket book. In order to prevent further financial embarrassment he decides to marry Hannah Thorne, a supposedly wealthy lady of the community. Upon his return from school, Henry Jr. finds that the addition of a step-mother to the household is just a little bit more than he can stand. With his pal, Jimmy Duffy and Minnie, his best girl, he proceeds to make life miserable for everyone that has anything to do with his family. Dahlia, the colored cook, finds "see-ment" in her cake dough, hoptoads in the flour barrel, and rubber hose in the macaroni. "Ah's quittin, Ah is" expresses her contempt for such pranks. Mrs. Peck's domineering personality has a very decided effect upon her husband and daughter, Luella Thorne, because Luella "is completely obedient to my will". Mrs. Peck tries to get her to marry a wealthy financier, Mr. Beaumont. Mr. Beaumont is favorable to the proposition, but encounters difficulty from Clifford Jennings, whom Luella loves, and Henry Peck Jr. who succeeds in "poisoning" Beaumont with moth balls.

"I will bust---I am so mad" is Schultz, the grocer's comment about Henry Jr.'s pranks. Schultz's love for Lizzie, the maid, causes both to become the object of one of Henry's best pranks. Beaumont is caught in the act of practicing his proposal with Lizzie, and gets in bad with both Schultz and Mrs. Peck. The timely arrival of Dora, Flora, and Lora, old sweethearts of Henry Sr., Cliff, and Beaumont, creates the most exciting day in Henry Jr.'s whole life. Henry Jr. justifies all of his "good deeds" by saying, "There ain't no encouragement for a fellow to be good cause all the folks that get into history are those that have raised Cain."

JUNIOR PLAY NEWS

As I leisurely sit, dreaming of something to write, my mind suddenly reels and stops on a night in February.

I am in the excited audience at the Millersburg High School Auditorium anxiously waiting for the curtain to open and reveal to me the setting and plot of that thrilling play, "What Happened to Uncle", presented by the Junior Class.

As the play opens, Bertha Walker, Carl's housekeeper is terribly worried because Carl went out for a walk a week ago and hasn't returned. Nobody knows what has happened to him, until Carl is brought home by his attorney, Frank Miller, who found him on a park bench. Carl is dressed in an old overcoat, the tops of a pair of hospital pajamas, and has a bandaged head and what is worse he cannot remember what has happened to him since he went for his walk and was struck by a passing automobile. To add to his troubles he finds in his pocket a wallet containing five thousand dollars in bills. All marks of identification have been taken and he has never seen the clothes he is wearing. On top of this Lloyd's wife, Alice, appears and calls him "darling" and says she is "Mrs. Douglas". Carl is horrified. In the midst of all this, Alicia Ellsworth, Carl's fiance and her mother arrive. Then to top things off, Millie the "gun-moll" appears and tells Uncle Carl that he is her chief known as "Carl the Killer". Things grow worse and worse and when Carl sees his picture in the paper with the title of "Carl the Killer", he gets frantic. He also finds he has been responsible for a robbery. The situations keep piling up till everyone wants to know what really happened to uncle. The closing scene unravels the whole story and Carl Douglas is at last free to marry Alicia.

The cast of characters are as follows:

Bertha Walker	- - - - Housekeeper	- - - - -	Phyllis Leek
Lloyd Douglas	- - - - Carl's Nephew	- - - - -	Dale Fisher
Alice	- - - - -	Lloyd's Wife	- - - - - Ruth Yoder
Frank Miller	- - - - Carl's Attorney	- - - - -	Floyd Utley
Carl Douglas	- alias Carl the Killer	- - - - -	Allen Fisher
Alicia Ellsworth	- Carl's Fiance	- - - - -	Imogene Stabler
Mrs. Ellsworth	- - Alicia's mother	- - - - -	Margaret Baker
Millie Thompson	- - Gun Moll	- - - - -	Lucille Long
Bill	- - - - -	Gangster	- - - - - Sheldon McClain
Sergeant Finnigan	- - Policeman	- - - - -	Fred Hartsough

The Music between acts was furnished by Mr. Chenoweth and his violin. The proceeds from the play were $66.60, after deducting expenses, a net profit of $48.49 remained. The Class expresses their appreciation to the students who worked on the committees, to Larimer's Furniture Store and to Roger's Industrial Painters, who contributed furnishings for the stage, and all others who helped to make this a howling success.

JUNIORS

There are some talented Juniors in Millersburg High
'Tis what I heard a teacher reply.
A more capable girl than Lucille can't be found,
And little Ruthie Yoder is always around
Helping with every trick and trade
Just throwing work back into the shade.

Interested in sports, there are quite a few
Not only our boys' cause there's girls in it too.
Cooney, Jake, Dick, Sark, and Mac, play
While Imy and Margaret help save the day,
By watching and cheering with all their might.
And Bob as manager, helps every fight.

Now lets take up the quieter few
Like Agnes, and Ruth, we'll see what they do.
They stick by the job, 'till it's done--every task.
The Juniors are leading--but why you don't ask
And just to see Freeman and Junior you know,
That they help the class day by day as they go.

The three Phyllises each do their share
By helping here, there, and everywhere.
It doesn't matter what the job may be,
And Evelyn you'll find always helping these three.

Of course there are farmers, we couldn't get by
Without having them, our food to supply.
Fred Hartsough and Charles are the champs of the class
And Paul and Dale all the others surpass.
Calvin Whirledge a farmer, is too
While Perry Fisher, delights to entertain you.

There are two little girls whose days are well spent,
For Virginia and Shirley toward music are bent.
And Norma Kurtz also puts in a hand
By doing each bit in the best way she can.
Now the Juniors have ended just one more day.
So busy, but yet in the happiest way.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

Jaunting leisurely down memory lane, we, the Juniors of Millersburg High School, have ascended a few rounds higher on the ladder of high school education. Starting at the beginning of our career I find the record thus:

Under the supervision of Miss Honderich we successfully started our Freshman year. The officers for the year were Pres. Ruth Yoder; Vice President, Floyd Utley; Sec-Treas, Lucille Long; Reporter, Phyllis Botts. This year six of our boys played on the second team in basketball. Two parties were held this year. The first being a Halloween party held at the home of Eileen Bradley. The evening was spent in playing in and out door games, after which a weiner roast was held in the orchard. Our final party for the year was held out on Bohn's Pond, a sliding party, with bumps. Then a fine varming was held at the school house where each had their allotment of refreshments consisting of hot dogs and buns.

Not far down the lane I find that after spending an exciting summer the pupils were reorganized, with Shirley Long as President; Paul Ditchett, Vice President; Lucille Long, Secretary -Treasurer, and reporter, with Miss Cripe as our sponsor. This year we held three parties. One of the parties was held in the home of Paul Ditchett, the other at the home of Walter Sark, and our final party was held in the old gym.

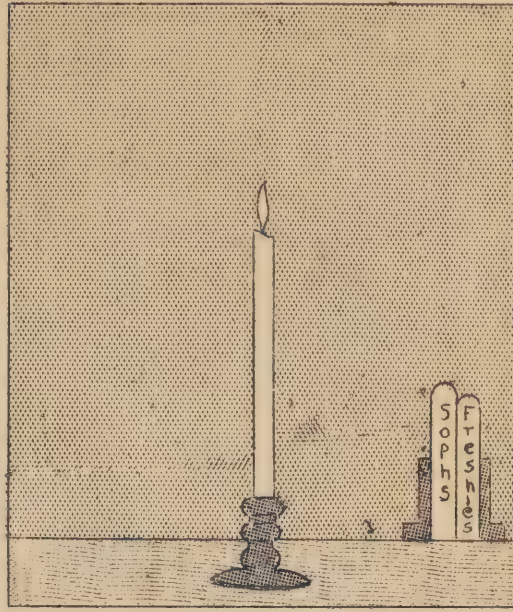

In the next mile of memory lane was a gala display of all the events held during the Junior year. Mr. Luke was the sponsor this year with Lucille Long, President; Dale Fisher, Vice President; Ruth Yoder, Sec-Treas; and Margaret Baker, reporter. With this able body leading, many money making attempts were made, (not because they're not thrifty). On the annual Home Coming Day held in Millersburg, we sponsored several stands which proved very successful. We also sold pop and popcorn at ball games last winter, and last but not least came the Junior Play.

On Feb. 10, after many days and nights of practice we presented the play "What Happened To Uncle", a howling success, although sometime before this presentation we had the misfortune of losing our sponsor by an automobile accident in which he was injured seriously and laid on the shelf for a time. However, Mr. Larimer, helped us considerably during this time by acting as our adviser. After the play there was a decided need for recreation, so a party was planned to be held at Miller's Hill. It was fun for those present but we rather shunned old man winter.

Returning suddenly to the year ending 1938-39, I find the Juniors gave a wonderful reception in the new gym, for the Senior class on the night of April 15.

So as glad as I was to write of this good Junior Class, I close, having experienced a joyous thrill of again finding and remembering these many affairs with them.

SOPHOMORE PROPHECY

The year is 1941 and I, after long hours in a newspaper office, am starting on a vacation trip. I board a train at Goshen and begin my trip. As I lean back in my seat and watch the miles fly by I think of my old class mates and wonder what they are doing. As if in answer to my thoughts the conductor comes through for tickets. It's none other than Donald Bates. With a shy smile he takes my ticket and goes on his way. Feeling hungry I make my way to the dining car to order lunch. The waitress is Alberta Groff. I look about me and notice at a table not far away, two happy persons who seem familiar to me. Of course, it's Loris Garber and Geraldine Gibson. My lunch finished I walk slowly back to the seat. In California, several days later, I step off the train and decide to visit the zoo. There, who should I see but Bob Holse and Karl Prough feeding the animals and cleaning the cages. Away from the zoo again I decide to take in a theatre. Edith Hoover calmly leads me to my seat. Who should be on but Roy Jr. Rogers, golden voiced singer, as a special attraction. Outside the theatre I see Earl Weddell. His job is to keep the streets clean. At a small store I buy a malted milk and hamburger to last me until dinner. Velda Kline is the waitress and Ava Stiver is the cook. After eating, I decide to go to the baseball park. There, playing in the League, is none other than Dick Lantz, and by the way he is pitching. John Bickel is up to bat. What a game! What a game! "Peanuts! Popcorn! Candy!" This comes from Betty Rink. John gets to first base and Junior Cramer comes to bat. "Hurrah"! it's a home run. At the edge of the park I stopped to buy a magazine. Naomi Miller and Doris Bowman, the eager salesladies, greet me with a smile. Pauline Whirlledge, a well known social worker, is on her way to the Settlement House. Pabel Eash is a school teacher and doing quite well, having some well known screen stars' children as pupils. Pearl Putman is a make-up lady and I caught her fixing Shirley Temple's hair. Joan Tarman is the personal maid of the great star, Vivian Steele. Last of all I meet Joan Custer. She is the cook at the Hollywood Hotel. But time draws short and I must leave so I catch a train, wave goodbye to all my friends, thankful they are doing so well, and journey home.

Roy Junior Rogers rates high as the class cut up. He not only has won a reputation here, but he is also known as a singer and the Sophomore Class president. Richard Lantz, better known as "Dick", though not very tall, has shown his ability as a baseball and basketball player to be one that's worth while having. Earl Weddell and Donald Bates are of a quiet disposition and are like the Methodist preacher who was a little backward about coming forward, but remember that old saying "Still water runs deep". Carl Prough is one of the so classed "small but mighty" students. You can generally find him in the library reading with all his might and main (not his lessons, but the funnies). Joan Custer and Junior Cramer are the two redheads of our class. Junior is one of the very few boys who can blush and do a good job of it. John Bickel has been given the name of "our handy man". Bob Holse is known as the "ladies man"---or is he? Well, your guess is as good as mine. A very noted basket ball fan is Geraldine Gibson, or maybe you call her "Jerry". You can probably guess why she is such an ardent admirer of "Indiana's favorite sport". It has curly hair and a wonderful physique. What? The basketball? You will know Doris Garber by her giggles, and Jean Tarman by her "goldie-locks". Jean is usually in a scrappy mood too. Jemima Fisher is always boosting her class. She isn't very big, but she has plenty of pep. Pauline Whirlledge and Alberta Groff are popular for their artistic and singing ability. They are both of a sunny disposition, and have a friendly word and cheery smile to spare. Even though it is against the rules and regulations, Betty Rink still likes to chew gum. You can see her slowly making her way to the waste paper basket at any time of the day with a good natured grin on her countenance. If Velda Kline has some place in mind, she usually gets there, and it is too bad for you if you stand in her way. Doris Bowman and Edith Hoover are known for their pleasant ways and their willingness to help everyone. Naomi Miller clings very much to her hobby of collecting poetry. Ava Stiver has a laugh for anything that's funny. Juanita Cripe, although a new comer to M. H. S. the last semester has fallen in line and is now marching along with the rest of us. She not only is very pleasing to be around but is very good at creative writing. Mable Eash and Esther Kohn are the two most studious young ladies in the class and might be first ladies of the land some day. Vivian Steele practices that old saying---"The way to have a friend, is to be one". And last but not least is Pearl Putman, that shy, tall but neat, brown eyed maiden of the class who is often seen but seldom heard.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

Five years ago the 4th graders of Clinton, Juday, Benton and Millersburg probably never thought of taking their Freshmen year in Millersburg High School with such a group of 34 personalities.

Registering was our first task on the opening day of school. Thus, the teachers found new names were to be added to their lists.

Eager Freshmen awaited the completion of the gymnasium and class rooms. Both boys and girls marveled at the conveniently equipped Physical Education Rooms.

Subjects that all Freshmen take are Mathematics, Literature, and Biology. During the remainder of the day, the Freshmen were some what scattered, some taking Junior Business Training, Home Economics, and Agriculture.

High School teachers are Mr. Juday, Mathematics; Miss Zook, Literature; Miss Honderich, Home Economics; Mr. Davis, Biology; Mr. Oyler, Agriculture; Miss Cripe, Commercial; Mr. Larimer, History; Miss McDowell, Music; and Miss Gangwer, English.

Mottoes were selected by a committee and the six best were voted on. The motto selected was "We build the ladder on which we climb". Our class colors are maroon and silver; our class flower is the American Beauty Rose.

Every one took part in the election of officers, they are as follows: Ruth Rogers, president; Theda Simmons, vice president; and Maxine Schrock, secretary and treasurer. Our sponsor was elected during the same meeting and all are grateful to Miss Cripe for her splendid sponsoring.

No one was disappointed in our Freshmen parties. We had two, one a treasure hunt, the other a bunco party. We were very fortunate in having Imogene Knapp at both of these parties for later she had to leave school because of ill health.

"NICKNAMES"

The Freshman Class is human so they just must have "Nicknames!" We'll go down the aisle and pick them off. First is Lester Knepp, or "Les". He is rather bashful but he'll do. Next comes Maxine Schrock, or just plain "Max". She's a lot of fun and fixes her hair a different way almost every week. Henry Schlabach goes as "Hank". He too is very bashful, but likes to act up in class. Ruth Anna Conrad is noted as "Slim". Behind her sits the biggest tease of the class in person, Howard Swartz, or "Mod". Then comes Robert Rohrer, or "Bob", "Dynamite" or "Sea-biscuit" ends the first row.

Pauline Schlabach leads the next row. Since no one can find a nickname for her she'll be just plain Pauline. Dorothy Livengood is next and is known as "Dot". Claude Fisher known as "Dopey" takes his place behind her. Genevieve Rosentrader, or "Genny" sits behind him so that accounts for the noise from that section. Thelton Kline, better known as "Bud" doesn't help matters any. Wilbur Hostetler, or "Hokie" tries to hide behind "Bud". After "Hokie" we find Ruth Rogers, or "Sis". Thus ends the second row.

Sarah Yoder is the captain of the next row; she has no nickname. Vernon Miller, or "Simp" comes next, followed by Audrey Leek, better known as "Leekie". Theda Simmons, or "Sammy", is always laughing and Geraldine Charlton, or "Jerry", is also full of fun. Behind "Jerry" is another girl teaser, none other than Lowell McClain, usually known as "Mac". But another row is waiting to be nicknamed so I'll have to hurry on.

John Miller is the head of this row, and he goes by the nickname of "Johnny". Luella Miller, or "Lue" has perpetual giggles. Edward Maust, or "Eddie" follows. Next comes the clown of the class, Carlyle Prough. He is known by "Mike", or "Porkey". Jean Radabaugh, or "Angel" comes next. Louise Groff, "Babe" to the class is next in line, and Frederick Brock, better known as "Fred" ends that row with a bang.

Beginning the next and last row is Lowell Hoover, or "Spud". David Dulaney, or "Dave" is heard from next. Dallas Schrock, or "Skipper" mimicks "Dave". Following him we find a basketball player, Raymond Hoffman but better known as "Stoney". If you hear someone calling either "Neal" or "Corney" make up your mind they're calling Cornelius Troyer. Mary Miller is so good we can't find a nickname for her, so she's just Mary. Audrey Berkey or "Aud" makes the thirty-third one so it is time to quit. That ends the Freshmen, better known as the "Freshies".

GRADE POEM

Into the pages which you are about to enter,
You will find the stories of each grade.
This is quite an interesting center,
One goal which some have already made.

Grades 1 and 2 are just starting their career,
They are trying to do their work just right.
To everyone they bring memories dear,
As they practice the rule of being polite.

Grades 3 and 4 are a few steps higher,
They are learning new things each day.
And the many things they hope to acquire,
They are trying to gain in the very best way.

On the 5th and 6th grades go,
Very much interested in every trade.
On every face some pride does show,
For the many achievements they have made.

Grades 7 and 8 are taking the test,
Of determining failure or success.
Each grade is doing their very best,
To be future Freshmen of M.H.S.

So now you've had an introduction to each grade,
Read now to your heart's content.
See the progress each has made,
By the valued time that they have spent.

GRADES

1 & 2

GRADES 1 & 2

On September 12, twenty children enrolled in Grades 1 and 2. There has been no gain and only one loss. Allen Cramer left in September when his parents moved to Goshen.

Our first grade pupils have read several primers, and would have read more, had they been available; in the future we hope to have more books available for the students.

The second grade completed the work outlined for them. The reading work in social studies has always proved to be very interesting when the students make or do things related to the life of the people, whom they study.

The citizenship organization, which is our council with president and vice president elected by the children every two weeks, has taken part of the responsibility of room routine and discipline. All the rules governing our room have been voted in by the children themselves, then enforced by teacher and pupils together.

The rules are few and chosen with the idea of courtesy as the fundamental principle. Whispering too much, speaking out of turn, jumping up in seats and running around are actions which disturb others. Since it is impolite to annoy others, the children voted for rules and the punishment thereof. However crude the organization, it has been a help.

GRADES 3 & 4

Throughout the year reading has been emphasized in grades 3 & 4. As much supplementary Reading as was available was used. Many a short test was given in order to encourage better comprehension. The third grade organized a Reading Club in order to improve their reading. The Reading table furnished further opportunity for reading for those who had time.

We found our new spelling books a great help in doing our lessons in a systematic way.

In Arithmetic we aimed at accuracy and speed along with a technique of attacking new problems.

In English we stressed arranging written work neatly and accurately, and becoming more conscious of correct spoken English. Both classes were interested in writing and giving plays.

The fourth grade enjoyed taking imaginary trips to foreign lands for their Geography work.

In Hygiene we learned the importance of good health. We tried to apply what we learned and form some good health habits.

The Art Classes made many pretty things. Along with learning many songs in music class, nine third and fourth graders helped give the high school Operetta.

We started with an enrollment of twenty six pupils. Richard and Dorvin Schlabach withdrew during the second semester. Our attendance was unusually good until the "flu" broke out.

GRADES 5 & 6

Everyone enjoyed this past year of school. We did not have much sickness, and we were glad of that.

Besides our regular studies everyone took an interest in art and music. In art we drew pictures and worked on copper wall hangings.

We enjoyed using the school's new movie projector. Our room was too sunny for good pictures so our films were projected in the 3rd & 4th grade room. We used 60 different films during this school year. We liked the sound picture "The Spirit of the Plains" the best of all. The films we saw were on physiology, history, health and geography subjects.

Mr. Thomas said if we had enough time, we would take up the cancing of chairs, and perhaps weave a few baskets and mats.

On rainy days when we couldn't go into the gym, we interested ourselves with some of the games which Mr. Thomas purchased for us. We had Chinese Checkers, Ping Pong, Checkers and dominoes. The greatest interest was in the miniature shuffle board which our boys made.

The boys and girls of the first six grades played in the gym during recess.

We hope you enjoyed our news for this year. It was written by Joan Graybill and Julia Groff, the 5th & 6th grade reporters. So "adios" until next year.

GRADES 7 & 8

In September, 15 bright and shining students appeared in Room 11 for the 7th grade, and twelve for the eighth.

At the beginning of the second semester, however, Janice Manges and Robert Martin withdrew to finish their school work in Goshen. A number of programs were held: ▲ Thanksgiving program; a Christmas program and exchange; and a Valentine Box was the main event in February. One party was held, the first semester, at the home of Betty Vance.

A Student Council for the first and second semester was elected by both grades. Alice Ruth Rink was president of the Council for the first semester. Betty Vance was president for the second semester, which will hold over until next year.

The boys had baseball and basketball games with the neighboring schools.

The Eighth grade had a class day and a Commencement program combined into one.

GRADE FEATURE

They say boys will be boys and girls will be girls; but it looks as if that adage has gone wrong in the fifth and sixth grade room. Julia Groff turned boy and has made a hobby horse, its body being a crossarm from a telephone pole, and a piece of binder twine made a very switchable tail. Junior Rink made a doll, using cornsilk for hair. A long table adorns one side of the room which makes a suitable ping pong and shuffle board combined. Everyone likes to see their name in print; but that all depends for what it appears. A special place on the black-boards is dedicated for this purpose which means that you are quietly but firmly asked to stay in at recess or noon for whispering or whatever the disturbance may be. Tennis shoes dangle from the supports on the desk ready for use when the teacher says, "You are dismissed". If a teacher is not already aware of the fact that one room has been dismissed for recess or noon, it won't take long, because every means available is taken to attract that much desired attention. Miss Weigel tells a Bible story to the first and second grades; Miss Bohn reads a chapter of some book, which was Heidi, the second semester, to the third and fourth grades; but the fifth and sixth grades can only prolong the ordeal of studying, by ordering lunches from the cafeteria. Reading material is available to any students who have finished their lessons.

Over a period of time clubs have been a success
Here are the honored clubs of M. H. S.

Ranking high in club recreation
Is the Athletic Association.

Giving sunshine is quite their aim
Thus the Sunshine Club is winning fame.

Along with progress of the future day
Will be the well-trained farmers of the F.F.A.

No worry in this club near or about
For the Boxing Club can knock them out.

Including very few members this year
The Latin Club has hopes--no fear.

Zig-zag lines are the usual start
But you gain success in this club--Art.

Always happy--never blue
Appears the Glee Clubs with songs for you.

Though the Commercial Club has just begun
It has shown its progress to everyone.

Interesting things and helpful too,
Does the Public Speaking class bring to you.

On toward better housekeeping is their goal
This Home Ec. club with a large membership roll.

Needless to say the Millerette Staff has work,
But our accomplishments have taught us never to shirk.

So may this suggestion be the future clubs test
To make the good clubs better, and the better clubs best.

ACTIVITIES COUNCIL

The purpose of the Activities Council, is mainly to control the extra-curricular activities and promote a spirit of co-operation among students in various functions of the school. The duties of the council, are planning the assembly and chapel programs, regulating school parties, controlling publication, chartering school clubs, and boosting school functions.

The council this year was made up of thirteen members. The members were elected by the individual classes and each class had a representative for high scholastic standing.

Our officers for the year were Warren Hire, President; Berdene Byler, Vice President; Ruth Yoder, Sec. & Treas; and Ruth Rogers, reporter. Mr. Larimer acted as the faculty advisor.

One of the most important tasks was that of planning the assembly programs, which were held every two weeks. Ministers from the neighboring churches conducted the Chapel Services. Miss Honderich's newly organized "Kitchen Band" gave an interesting program, although it sounded a little "tinny" it may be able to compete with the Army's someday. Miss Honderich also demonstrated the new streamlined baton, now on sale in the kitchen department of any five and ten cent store. Besides all the other programs given by the clubs, the council also found time to have Dan West, a Spanish relief worker, give an address on the war in that country, and a quartette of Negro boys from Prentiss High School, Prentiss, Mississippi gave a very interesting and unique program to the assembly.

The Council sponsored a contest in which the Seniors were the winners, by selling the greatest number of Basket ball season tickets. Under the supervision of the Council, a party was given in their honor by the underclassmen.

A new project was taken up by the council this year. A committee was appointed to take charge of the Lost and Found Department. Much better results were secured by this act than by the former method used.

Besides the items mentioned, many minor problems of school conduct were discussed and action was taken on them to promote the welfare of the school.

F. F. A.

Each local chapter of the F. F. A. must have a charter from the State in which the club is organized. The Millersburg Chapter obtained their charter on December 1, 1932.

The following members were elected officers of the Millersburg Future Farmer of America, Chapter No. 24, for the year 1938 and 1939:

President - - - Elwood Kauffman
Vice-President- - -Richard Rink
Secretary - - - -James Miller
Treasurer - - - - James Weddell

The purpose of the club is to give boys a better training in farm subjects so they will be better prepared to go out into the world as farmers. The F. F. A. is a National, State and Local organization for boys and young men who are planning to be farmers.

There were 21 members this year. Seven of the members obtained Future Farmer Degrees.

The F. F. A. has Four Degrees that may be obtained by young men who are willing to work for them. They are Green Hands the first year in the club; Future Farmer Second Degree, which is obtained by saving $25, the second year in club; the next is the State Farmer Degree which may be obtained by saving or investing $250 in a farm project and pass the requirements of the State organization. The last Degree is the highest that may be secured, the American Farmer Degree. It may be obtained by passing the National Regulations.

Some of the projects the club participated in were: raising potatoes, corn and live stock judging contest, pest contest, Product Show and a ball game with Goshen F. F. A.

ACTIVITY AWARDS

When a task is once begun
Never leave it 'til it's done
Be the labor great or small
Do it well or not at all.

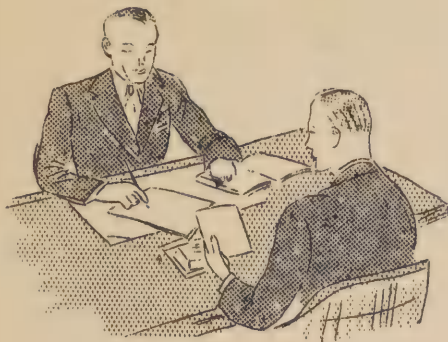

With what kind of a spirit have you entered into a task that has been assigned to you? Are you the type that people want? Do you give the best that you have to whatever you participate in? Are you honest, steady, and dependable? These and many more points all go to make up a good citizen. No one can be a good citizen and only have one good trait.

Many organizations are sponsoring good citizenship awards. For those who have been fortunate enough to win one should feel honored, but don't let it go to your head because being a modest winner is another important trait of being a good scout. The Daughters of the American Revolution (D.A.R.) is one of these organizations. To win the award you are based on dependability, service, leadership and patriotism. Not every one can win as you know but Bernice Rink won this Year's contest after a close race.

Equally as important as the D. A. R. is the Scholarship, Activities, and the Sportsmanship awards. After four years of work and study Carol Stine won the scholarship award. Since school is compulsory why not try for something that has a reward. Elwood Kauffman's good character, cooperation, dependability, participation and leadership won the activities award. Probably the most coveted award is that of sportsmanship. Paul Worthman's mental attitude not only before the crowds but in practices, his ability to take decisions like a man, in other words, how he played the game won him the sportsmanship award for this year.

Your ability to take the decisions of fate will also determine your reward in later years. Will you be able to say truthfully at life's brink, "I have kept the faith, I have fought a good fight"?

COMMERCIAL CLUB

For the first time a commercial club has been organized in Millersburg High School. Due to the fact that there is no activity period in which to have our club meetings, we decided to take our Junior Business Training class period on Friday.

Our club was started during the second semester this year. Officers elected were as follows: President, Lucille Long; Vice-President, Geraldine Gibson; Secretary, Jean Tarman; Club reporter, Ava Stiver.

The purposes of our club are to promote interest in the business world and in the study of commercial subjects, to encourage social spirit, and to become familiar with modern progressive business methods and systems. By these we hope to maintain a higher standard of training for business.

Some of the topics discussed at our weekly meetings were, Consumer's Education, Qualifications for different Vocations, the importance of going to school, who pays for Education, the economic spending of money, Budgeting, Banking and many other interesting topics.

ART CLUB

A New type of art class was organized last fall as a part of the regular school curriculum. The 13 members of this class received credit for their work.

Each member was responsible for his own work and could choose any phase of Art he desired. Some of the work that was chosen by club members was: Sketching, Designing Plaques, Bead Work, Wood Burning, Painting, Metal Stippling, Sand Painting, and Art Stone Modeling.

Our Club met every Monday and Tuesday from 12:15 to 1:00. Miss McDowell was our instructor, but due to a conflict the last semester, Miss Honderich assisted in the work.

PUBLIC SPEAKING

Twelve students of the Junior and Senior Class gratefully took advantage of the possibility of the Public Speaking class, first time offered at Millersburg High since 1926, and have profited by practice in a broad field of Speaking.

Speech projects that we undertook were of the following types: After Dinner, Presentation and Acceptance, Demonstration, Debating, Extempore and Prepared Speeches: Conversation, Classroom Discussion, Parliamentary Procedure, Voice and Oral Expression, Action and Pantomime.

Our capable director, Miss Zook, has been a great aid in assisting us to correct the fault of weak knees, breathlessness, nervousness or in general, stage fright. We also had helpful suggestions by Mr. Marshall, a dramatist from Indianapolis.

The annual Reading and Oratorical Contest held in the Spring is being looked forward to with enthusiasm by five orators and six who are entering the Reading Contest.

GIRL'S GLEE CLUB

The Girl's Glee Club had an enrollment of 58 members this year. We had a very good selection of songs which were all appreciated. The first semester we, with the help of the Boy's Glee Club, presented the operetta, "The Gypsy Rover".

Throughout the school year we sang for various community programs as well as having the opportunity of singing over Radio Station W. T. R. C. from 8:00 to 8:30 P.M., Saturday, April 1.

Club officers are as follows:

President	----- Goldie Rosentrader
Vice-President	----- Verna Berkey
Secretary-Treasurer	----- Arlene Miller
Reporter	----- Lucille Long

Songs that are best liked by the club are; "Sylvia", "Tales from Vienna Woods", "Italian Street Song", and "Gypsy Love Song".

BOY'S GLEE CLUB

Under the direction of Mr. Luke, the Boy's Glee Club was organized again this year in the first part of October.

The following officers were elected:

President	----- Franklin Long
Vice-President	----- Dale Fisher
Secretary-Treasurer	----- Sheldon McClain
Reporter	----- Roy Jr. Rogers

Miss McDowell took charge during Mr. Luke's absence, but due to conflicting schedules, only a few members were able to attend the regular practices. In another year we hope to have the best Glee Club ever to sing in Millersburg High School.

HOME EC. CLUB

In recent years increased interest has been taken in vocational training in our high schools and much effort has been put forth to interest rural youth in vocational activities. This has been especially true at Millersburg where improvements have been made each year.

The first great improvement was made in the curriculum. In earlier years it was known as Domestic Science and consisted chiefly of cooking and sewing. But since the machine age has changed the activities of the home, the emphasis has been broadened to include selection and consumer problems. Thus we have chosen to name it the Home Economics Department and cooking and sewing has grown into Foods and Clothing. In the Fall of 1932 two additional courses were added to the curriculum, namely Home Nursing and Home Management and two years later Advanced Foods and Clothing were included among the subjects taught. This year Home and Social Relations was offered the first semester. It is now possible for a girl to start her vocational training as a Freshman and continue through her Senior Year.

This, however, is not the only improvement which we find in our department. Because of the enlarging of the curriculum, we found the dingy basement room inadequate for these various activities. After considerable anticipation and planning we moved from a dark gloomy north basement room into two spacious rooms where the sun greets us with warmth and cheer. From using the old, slow electric burners and rusty kerosene stove that needed to be propped for safety, we find ourselves cooking on modern white porcelain electric, dry gas, and kerosene ranges. Each of these are of the very best quality. The new kitchen is equipped for 16 girls and can be arranged to accommodate 18 or 20.

The clothing room is also well equipped with table and chairs for recitation and all the equipment needed for clothing work, including a new electric Singer Sewing Machine.

Not all the girls are able to include Home Economics in their course so we have organized a Home Eekers Club for all girls interested in Home Economics. This Club was first organized in the Fall of 1933 and has continued to be one of the most active clubs in the school. Each year the members have enjoyed an initiation party and a Mothers' and Daughters' banquet. For several years the girls made various projects of embroidery, crocheting, knitting, and weaving. But since we have only $\frac{1}{2}$ hr. every two weeks, we have limited ourselves to programs. The Club also sponsored a refreshment stand at the Fall Festival, the proceeds were used to purchase a set of dishes for the New Home Economics Department.

BOOSTER'S CLUB

The Constitution for the Athletics Association was drawn up in the school year of 1934-1935. This association was organized for the purpose of raising funds for equipment, promote the school spirit, provide for equal participation in athletics, promote better sportsmanship and boost all school activities. Basketball, playground ball, volleyball and ping pong, are sponsored by the association. A president, vice president, secretary and treasurer and reporter are the elected officers. A membership fee of twenty-five cents and ten cents per month is charged for joining this club.

All varsity members of any squad, Yell Leaders and Student Managers must be members of this Association. The Association buys letters to be awarded to the basketball players who have earned the letter by participation. The Association is responsible for securing awards for Senior members, both girls and boys, providing they have been active members, for three years, also an award for the Varsity basketball player who shows the best sportsmanship during the season, in games and in practices.

This year there are fifty two members in the Athletic Association. The officers are:

SPREADING SUNSHINE

SUNSHINE CLUB

The Sunshine Club was first formed in 1933 with a large majority of the High School Girls present. During that year and years to come the Sunshine Club lived up to its purpose; to scatter sunshine, helpfulness and kindness to others, courtesy in the home and school, and the willingness to cooperate.

During the first semester of 1938 we gave a Father's and Daughter's social, which was the first to be given in our school, and it proved a success.

At the beginning of the second semester, we sponsored a soap week. We received 112 cakes of soap which were sent to Spain for relief. We also had a magazine campaign; the girls sold magazines and the profit went to the club for the Mother's and Daughter's banquet which was given April 12.

At the end of the year we elected Virginia Groff as our Ideal Sunshine Girl; she is one who fills most of the requirements which the club considered should be followed to gain the honor.

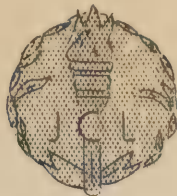

The final event of the year was the crowning of the Ideal Sunshine girl at the Mother's and Daughter's banquet.

The officers for this year were:

President - - - - -	Pearl Minier
Vice President -	Margaret Ann Baker
Sec. Treas - - - - -	Phyllis Leek

Devotional Leader - -	Esther Steele

LATIN CLUB

The Latin Club was first organized in the year of 1937 with twelve members. The meetings were held during the Latin class period. The first year the club, being very active, gave a play, made an interesting scrap book, gave a banquet, and also presented an assembly program.

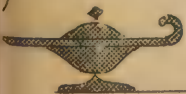

The Club began the school year of '38 and '39 with seven members present. They joined the Junior Classical League and received the Classical pins and also secured a charter for the Club. In place of a banquet this year a waffle supper was given. They gave a very successful assembly program which consisted of an International Amateur Hour and it was so successful that the P.T.A. asked for it to be repeated.

BOXING CLUB

On November 28, 1938, the boys of the school organized a boxing club. 34 members were present at the first meeting. Officers elected were Marlin Kline, President; Oliver Larimer, Vice President; Roy Jr. Rogers, Sec. Treas.; Elwood Kauffman, Reporter; and C. R. Luke, Sponsor. A Constitution was adopted by the club. The Seniors were not required to pay entrance fee. The entrance fee for underclassmen was 25¢ for joining, and 10¢ monthly. Every member pays monthly dues. A committee went to Elkhart on December 13, to purchase gloves, and a punching bag. Mr. Luke financed us until we could get the treasury established. After Mr. Luke's accident, Mr. Oyler took charge. We box and wrestle (a motion for wrestling was made after the Constitution was written) on Thursday the 4th period. There are only 12 members, but everyone has an enjoyable time and we are all learning a fine art of self defense.

PARENT TEACHER'S ASSOCIATION

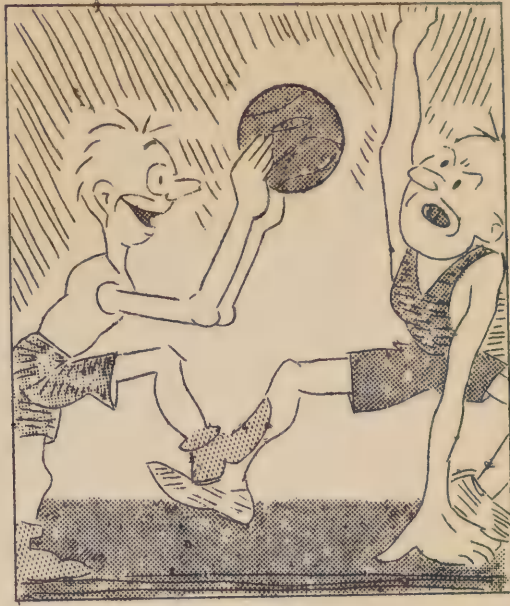

The first P.T.A. meeting introduced by R. L. Case, Principal, was held on December 9, 1936 in the High School auditorium. The first officers were: President, Herbert Stroup; Vice President, Mrs. Lester Davis; Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. John Larimer. The organization became a member of the State and National P.T.A. in January. It was during the meeting of January 13th that Mr. Case presented the need of a new addition to the old building and appointed a committee to investigate the possibilities of erecting one. This committee was composed of Lester Davis, Lloyd Hartsough, and Calvin Rogers.

In 1937 when Mr. O.L. Larimer became principal he also furthered the cause of the new building and was an ardent supporter of all projects which the P.T.A. undertook. One of the most interesting programs of the year was given by Sergeant Beverforden of the Ligonier State Police Barracks on "Safety", with pictures.

During the summer, the addition was completed, so on November 2, 1938, the P.T.A. met in the new addition and were confronted with the possibility of purchasing a new Victor Movie Projector, which Mr. Larimer pointed out would be a great asset to the school. It was purchased. Many fine programs were presented throughout the year. Some of them were: Miss Honderich's Kitchen Band, the Latin Club Amateur Hour, Judge Lindsey's talk on "Child Training"; the High School Glee Clubs; W.I. Dukor's talk on "Education in a changing World"; and Rev. Worthman's talk on "The Changing Home in a Changing World".

The P.T.A. is to be congratulated on the effort and progress it has made in helping to make Millersburg a better community.

ATHLETICS

Jefferson Initiates The Gym

Unable to practice in the new gym before playing Jefferson in it on Nov. 4, Millersburg met their first defeat of the season by those hard hitting Tigers by a score of 15-30. The glass backboards added much to the confusion of the Millers. Beehler led the visitors with 12 points. Hartsough paced the losers with 7.

Concord Drubs Millers

Concord coming to Millersburg Nov. 11 with a veteran team went home with a 34-13 victory in their pocket. Concord, getting away to a good start the first quarter, went on to win the game by sharp shooting at the old bucket while the hapless Millers failed to hit.

Topeka Nips Millers

Not being fully recovered from Friday night's beating, the Millers traveled to Topeka, Saturday Nov. 12, to come within three points of a victory. The Millers put up an eight point rally in the last quarter but were unable to overcome the Topeka lead. Hartsough made seven of the Millers nineteen points while Kendall made nine of the twenty-two for the winners.

Millers Beat Shipshe

The Millers being determined to turn the tables, on Friday night Nov. 18 after three straight setbacks by opponents, came through with an 11-6 victory over Shipshewana. Although the Millers were not hitting their baskets, they managed to hold their opponents to 6 points, 5 of which were made by Mishler, Shipshe guard. Hartsough and Miller led the Millers with 4 points each.

The preliminary game was won also by the Millers in a double overtime thriller; the score being tied nine all at the end of the regulation game. After the first overtime the score was still tied 9-9, but in the second overtime, Bickel put the game on ice with a field goal making the score Millers 11, Shipshe 9.

Millers Walk Over The Alumni

The Millers showed the Alumni, that they knew how to play basketball after all. The Alumni led 13-4 at the first quarter but the Millers came back strong in the second and led the visitors at the half. Keeping up the good work in the last half, the Millers coasted to an easy victory. Hartsough and Kline led the high school lads with ten points each, while Botts and France led the Alumni with six each. Two factors needed most by the visitors were wind and practice.

Millers lose Again

The Millersburg Millers suffered a 33-19 beating Dec. 2, by Rome City, who because of their towering height, got off to a fine lead in the first quarter. The rest of the game proved to be too much for our hard fighting local lads and the game ended in an easy victory for the visitors. Galland and Frick shared the scoring honors for Rome City, while Worthman led the Millers with 5 points.

Millers lose to Bristol

The Millers lost a hard fought battle on Friday night Dec. 9, by a score of 22-34. The Pirates lived up to their name and stole the lead from the Millers and kept it throughout the game. Wall of Bristol took the scoring honors of the game with 11. Hartsough led the locals with 6.

Guess What Happened?

Jimtown journeyed to Millersburg Dec. 23, only to hand the Millers their seventh defeat of the season. The Jimmies getting away to a good start piled up a 26-6 advantage at the half-time. The game seemed to be played on even terms during the third quarter but during the last quarter the Millers finally broke loose to out-score their opponents 13-11. Miller led the winners with 9 points, while Kline led the locals with 8 points.

The Tigers Growl Again

The Jefferson Tigers showed the Millers on Jan. 6, that their growl was as bad as their bite and just to prove their point won 40-21. The Millers starting off with a fast passing attack found themselves in the lead at the first quarter; but as the game progressed their passing seemed to slack and the eager Jeffs took it up. Beehler was the star of the game by scoring 8 times from the field and twice from the charity stripe, for a total of 18 points. Kline was high point man for the locals with 7 points.

My! My!

The Millers found themselves playing the highly classed Waka-rusa Indians on Thursday night, Jan. 12, at the County Tourney held at Nappanee. The Indians got off to a fast start by scoring 15 points the first quarter and keeping up this speed throughout the game. The Millers failed to find themselves at any time in the game and it ended in a landside 51-8.

Millers vs. Cubs

On Wednesday Jan. 18 the Millers engaged the New Paris Cubs in a mid-week game. The Cubs started their substitutes but after about four minutes of play the regulars went into the game with the Millers one point behind. At the half the score stood at 15-4 in the Cubs favor. The second half was a real battle with both teams caging 14 points. Bob Hollar led the cubs with 3 field goals and 2 free throws, a total of 8 points; however Hartsough was the high scorer, getting 3 field goals and 3 charity tosses netting him 9 points. The final score was 29-18, in the Cubs favor.

Topeka Wins Again

On Friday night Jan. 20, Topeka traveled eight miles just to beat Millersburg their tenth basketball "jinks" of the season. The game was very slow in getting started with Topeka leading 5-6 at the half. In the 3rd quarter, Topeka increased their lead to four points and went on to win by a score of 25-18.

Sutton was the individual star of the game by getting 4 buckets and a charity toss for a total of 11 points. Hartsough set the pace for the losers with 8 points.

The preliminary was won by the Millers with a score of 20-10. Richard Hoffman led the Millers' seconds by scoring 11 points to beat Topeka single-handed.

Middies Nip Millers

The Millers traveled to Middlebury Jan. 21 to play one of their best games of the season, but were nosed out by a 3 point margin held by the Middies at the end of the game. Hartsough, Millersburg's high-point getter carried high point honors with 12 of the Millers 17 points; while Garman set the pace for the winners with 12 also. The final score was 20-17.

Leesburg Triumphs

Leesburg came to town on Jan. 28, and defeated us 34-21. The Millers playing good ball the first half came out ahead of the Leesburg crew, but Leesburg, being one of the fastest teams the Millers had met, came through the last half to win. Smith was the individual star of the game, getting 12 points for the winners. Hartsough again led the locals with 7 points.

Redskins On The Warpath

The Millers answered Goshon's invitation to play in their gym on Feb. 7; but only to go home with a 54-19 defeat.

Again It Happened!

The Millers traveled to Shipshewana Wednesday night, Feb. 15, only to get nosed out by a score of 18-23. The game was slow in getting started. At the end of the first quarter, Shipshe led with a score of 6-4. They retained a one point margin at the half, but pulled away with a winning spirit late in the fourth quarter.

Considerable time was spent at the foul line because of the 37 fouls called against the two teams. Worthman led the Millers with five points, while Nelson set the pace for the winners with nine points.

Pirates Sink Millers

Millersburg's Millers journeyed to Bristol Feb. 17, only to take a 21-55 drubbing by those big Bristol Pirates. Bristol grabbed the lead in the start of the game and remained there for the rest of the game. The Millers played fairly good ball all through the game. Hartsough, Miller's Ace, was back to his scoring post getting 3 field goals and three charity tosses for a total of 9 points. Pelz, Bristol forward, was the individual star of the game getting 16 points.

Cromwell Comes To Town

The lads from Cromwell blew into the "Burg" on Feb. 27, to engage the Millers in their last game of the season. The game started off with a bang and the score at the half was 11-12 in favor of

CLASS TOURNAMENT

The Juniors, highly favored to defeat the Sophomores, won the opener 24-17. The Sophomores had only a slim chance to score because the Juniors controlled the ball most of the game. Hartsough led the winners with 10 points and Bates led the losers with 6.

The Seniors, the top heavy favorites to compete in the finals, won easily over the Freshmen in the second game. Rink and Kline set the pace for the winners with 6 points apiece, while Hoffman and Kline led the losers with 3 each.

The Freshmen, playing heads-up basketball, found themselves in the lead at the end of the third quarter of the consolation game by a score of 14-12. Lantz, getting 12 of his 17 points in the last quarter, turned the tables and the Sophomores won 24-15.

In the final and all important game of the evening, the Seniors won an exciting overtime battle by a score of 17-15. At the half time the Seniors were leading 10-4. During the third quarter the Juniors found the basket and were leading 3 points at the end of the quarter. The Seniors scored one basket and a charity toss to tie the game up in the final quarter, and the game went into an overtime battle. In the overtime, Long gave the final blow to the Juniors by caging the ball for the Seniors.

CLASS NIGHT EXERCISES

SALUTATORY

Parents and Friends: We, the Senior Class of '39, extend to you a sincere welcome to our Class Night exercises. For four years we have been striving toward this goal--Graduation. It has been reached by the aid of our parents, teachers and the officials of the school. To them we give our deepest appreciation.

But before we go "Out of School Life--Into Life's School", we would invite you to join us as we travel with the "March of Time". On this journey, we wish to review with you the happenings of the past and the prophecies of the future.

We hope you enjoy these exercises tonight, as much as we enjoy the privilege of bringing them to you.

--Arlene Miller

VALEDICTORY

"Out of School Life--Into Life's School" is our motto. For four years we have traveled hand in hand through joys and sorrows, work and pleasure with our teachers always ready and willing to help us with our Arithmetic, History, or English. As we think of our school experiences, we may wonder which will be the best--the past twelve years of School Life or the years that will follow during Life's School? We have reached the Commencement of our lives. Our hands unclasp; sorrowfully we separate to go our different ways, to live our lives in another field, no longer as a class, but as individuals. What our lives will be depends largely upon the foundations we have built in our High School years.

"Success is a greased pole, but we can climb it if we have plenty of sand". Will we reach the top? If so, will we be able to stay there or will we gradually slip down the pole from our attainment and see others who are half way up but still climbing, or we may even find some at the bottom who are struggling to get started. Let us then be conscious that the hardest lessons are yet to come and as "Time Marches On", let us remember that--

If you think you're beaten you are;
If you think you dare not, you don't;
If you'd like to win but you think you can't,
It is almost certain you won't.
If you think you'll lose, you're lost;
For out in the world you'll find
That success begins with a fellows will;
Its all in the battle of mind.
If you think you're outclassed, you are;
You've got to think high to rise;
You've got to be sure of yourself before
You can ever win a prize.
Life's battle don't always go
To the strongest and fastest man;
But sooner or later the man who wins
Is the one who thinks he can."

--Carol Stine

GRADUATION

Graduation' is defined as the "completion of a course for a school or college and the issuance of a diploma signifying such completion". A second definition states that the word means "to divide into spaces".

To the Seniors this word should have a great deal of significance. As an individual you will each receive a diploma signifying that you have completed the course offered or required for such ranking; as a group you will be "divided into spaces". The acceptance of a diploma should cause a certain amount of reflection upon the four years of your high school career. You might wish to ponder on such questions as these for awhile. Am I a true representative of the institution from which I accept this diploma? Have I acquired as much benefit from the school as I should have with the privileges offered to me? Will my friends and acquaintances be able to regard me as a credit to my community? Have I been worthy and appreciative of the sacrifices which have been made in order that I might attain this ranking of a graduate? A number of others might be mentioned, but a mere statement will likely get little reaction.

May I discuss the other side of the topic for a moment? The conclusion of the Commencement ceremony will undoubtedly mark the last time that all of you will be assembled together; an otherwise occurrence would be a rare coincidence. Literally, you will be "divided into spaces", as some of you go one way and some another. Some are likely to get high ranking positions, others will not be so fortunate; but you have a diploma. You may even envy your former classmate, but the material benefits from such are rather meager. Too, your diploma alone, will be a poor "meal ticket". You have no assurance that society will accept and care for you in a manner similar to that which the school has done during the past twelve years.

There is no greater fallacy than to cause everyone to believe that to be successful he must reach the crest of his chosen career. If that were possible we would be living in such a highly specialized world that life would be laboriously monotonous. Less important tasks must be done and if you are one who does them well, enjoy the credit which comes your way. A foot rule is divided into twelve spaces, one immediately following another. Can you take out a space or two in the center and have a good rule left? Society is made up of an indefinite number of spaces represented largely by those who have accepted a diploma. Do you fit in any of the spaces or can you be omitted without any effect upon the remainder?

If graduation to you means the receiving of a diploma, the space you will occupy in society will likely be small; if it means "dividing into spaces", you will feel the responsibility of making a space in life suitable for you to fulfil.

CLASS HISTORY

Four short years ago, we the graduating class of '39 entered Millersburg High School as Freshies. The class consisted of 52 of the "greenest nuisances" in the school. One student was gained later in the year. The class began under the leadership of:

President - - - - - John Cart
Vice-President - Elwood Kauffman
Sec. & Treas. - - - Marjorie Long
Sponsor - - - - - Miss McDowell

We had a "rip roaring time" at our parties which were held at the homes of Carol Stine, Lanetia Whirlledge and John Cart.

September 1936 found a group of eager Sophomores returning to M. H. S. Some of our class did not return and consequently the size of the class decreased from 52 to 47. The absent members were greatly missed, but their places were at least partially filled by newcomers. At the first class meeting, the following officers were elected:

President - - - - - Paul Worthman
Vice-President - - - Warren Hire
Sec. & Treas. - - Kathryn Minier
Sponsor - - - - - Mr. Johnson

As Juniors we took up our school work with a little more serious thought. We elected the following class officers:

President - - - - - Elwood Kauffman
Vice-President - - James Miller
Sec. & Treas. - Goldie Rosentrader
Sponsor - - - - - Miss Zook

The class membership had declined to 40.

The numerous memories of the year included a carnival in the shop to raise money for the Junior-Senior Banquet; a class play "Lena Rivers" which proved a success, and the Junior-Senior reception at Hotel Goshen, with a perfect attendance from both classes. The theme of the program was "In Dutch". The room was very cleverly decorated to carry out the theme. The Oratorical and Reading contest was won by members of our class this year.

Then came our last year to which we had long looked forward, and from which we are now departing. Our enrollment this year was 41. We chose the following officers:

President - - - - - Elwood Kauffman
Vice-President - - - Warren Hire
Sec. & Treas. - Goldie Rosentrader
Sponsor - - - - - Mr. Davis

We chose as our motto, "Out of School Life, into Life's School"; our colors are red and white, and our flower, the Red and White carnation.

"Peck's Bad Boy" was our class play. After much discussion we decided to wear caps and gowns. We felt quite proud of the fact.

that our class was quite "rich" as we had managed to store up a good sum in our treasury and it looked as if we would sail through to our goal without too many worries.

Our boys were awarded the trophy presented by Botts and Sons to the winner of the inter-class basket ball tournament. Not to be surpassed by the boys, the girls succeeded in carrying off the honor of winning the girl's inter-class basket ball tournament.

The Class, always doing something different, decided to publish their final edition of the Millerette; instead of making it an issue which would be of interest only to the Seniors, they decided to publish an annual that would contain pictures, articles, and illustrations, which would be appreciated by all students and people of the community.

Time Marches On and we must all come to the parting of the ways someday. It will be a sad farewell for some, while others will be glad. May you, my classmates, always keep marching toward the goal you have set even though the road be rough. Keep the good name you have gained, and weather your storms as you have weathered them during your school life, always marching forward.

Kathryn Minier

CLASS SONG

To be the best class in Indiana,
We've made this our goal, for these past years.
Freshies to Seniors, we fought together,
To uphold our school with cheers;
As we march forward, the red and white flash,
And to them we will always stay so true,
And never shirking, we'll keep on working,
Our dear old Alma Mater, for you.

We are the Seniors of one-nine-three-nine,
We are the largest class in M.H.S.
A good example, we would like to be,
To gain the top and do our best,
We'll go from school's life into life's school,
That's our motto, we want to live up to.
Now as we journey, 'out on life's highway,
May our memories cling to you.

Marjorie Long

CLASS GRUMBLE

The time has come again when it is the privilege of the Seniors to tell their likes and dislikes of the school year of '38 and '39. We hope this will be taken in the same spirit in which it is given. In the first place I can't see why they picked on me to be the goat and give the class grumble since I neither have horns, nor am I hard to please.

A figure steps into the assembly and quietly makes an announcement, which incidently will be the only quiet thing about it; everybody sighs and reaches into his desk for the cotton kept for the purpose. The announcement is brief: Junior Class meeting this period.

Why can't we have an escalator to get us up and down from one classroom to the other instead of having to use the stairs. Remember friends, classmates and countrymen we live in 1939. Yes, Yes.

Since we have the new gymnasium all the grade kids play in there until the bell rings and a poor city high school scholar who has stayed up all night getting lessons, or otherwise, can not tell whether he's early or late.

We cannot understand why the student body can not get out of the schoolhouse as fast one time as they can another. In other words, when we have a fire drill it takes three minutes to vacate the place but when the three thirty bell rings it is cleared in one minute and a half flat.

Why can't we hear musical chimes instead of that fog horn on the score board at basket ball games when a substitution is made. And just as a suggestion, have the chimes play our school song.

If the township would put Wilton rugs on the floors instead of oil, we would feel more like wearing our Ermine wraps.

Now if the teachers would all go together and get ONE Chrysler Royal it would not only help Major Bowes out, but the students wouldn't have to listen to the teachers tell what a hard time they had getting the Fords and "Chevies" started on winter mornings. Mr. Larimer could drive the car to school since he is the principal and the rest of the teachers could come on "shank's ponies".

A motion has been put before the house that overstuffed chairs be put in the gym as one gets kinda sleepy waiting for the Millers to make a basket so one can stand up and cheer.

Another thing we cannot understand is why all of Miss Zook's boy friends are her "cousins". You had better bring the whole Weaver family at once to the games next year Miss Zook instead of one at a time like you did this year; we ran out of games you know.

We wish Noah would build another ark so the Physics laboratory would get some new equipment. This we are using is so old it has a beard, or almost anyway.

While we are on this subject, why must girls take Physics anyway, especially when it comes to studying electricity. You either know when you come in contact with it, or you wish you would have.

The Seniors believe in a saying that goes, "Enough's enough and too much is plenty." It's really getting to be too much when you have to practically be a football player to force your way through the halls at intermissions. The sweet young things insist on worshipping their heroes at this time. We really don't approve of these love birds billing and cooing in the halls. When they build another addition to our Alma Mater, let's consider a rose garden with all the trimmings, including an artificial moon.

Now it was perfectly alright with everyone that we were snow bound and had to miss two whole days of school; we took the punishment gracefully but when Mr. Larimer stepped into the assembly on the morning of our return and said, "Now study as if you were all here", Well-----

It has been rumored around that in a recent Junior Class meeting a measure was unanimously agreed upon. We wonder if they want us to close school and make it a holiday or whether they would be satisfied with being excused from fifth period classes so they may celebrate.

Just when the assembly gets quiet enough to study in, in stumbles a pack of green "froshies" and there goes peace out of the window. Oh, well such is life among the Indians!

And now I am saying to myself, "I think it is time I am signing off but here is a riddle maybe you would like to be guessing. "Why is a school room like a Ford car? No, you're wrong. It's because the crank is at the front. And now I know I had better be going. Adios.

ADVICE TO FACULTY

Miss Honderich, we advise you to think twice and be more careful and not pay four dollars for one-hundred-and-fifty-six oranges again. You will break Elmer up by such doings. And, by the way, Miss Honderich, we think it would be nice if you would bring Elmer around sometime for us to see. Honest, Miss Honderich we won't take him from you, after you've spent these forty-three years getting him.

Miss McDowell we feel that your money would be well spent if you would purchase yourself a pair of roller skates. With all of the mileage you register from one class room to the next and from school to school, you need something that will help you lighten your work and we feel a pair of skates would do that very thing.

Miss Gangwer, we advise you to put a patent on your cheery laugh. You make music where-ever you go and I am sure someone will try to copy after you. And something else, Miss Gangwer, please do not pay so much attention to your little seventh and eighth graders, look to the Seniors where you can see something.

Mr. Luke, we advise you to drive more careful and be sure to come back to school, because we miss you.

Miss Cripe, the only advice for you is to remember that we are not college students, so don't assign such long lessons. We can't say much about you, Miss Cripe, because you have stayed with us through all our troubles, helping us to make the Millorette the best paper ever published.

Mr. Oyler, we advise you to take your singing ability more seriously. You never can tell, you might become a good singer sometime.

Mr. Davis, we have no advice for you, because you have done splendid work in advising us, and we appreciate it.

Miss Zook, we advise you to make up your mind on your boy friends. Decide if it's Joe or Bob, so someone else can have a chance. We advise "Age before beauty". Perhaps, we had better not advise you any more, because you helped us to make our play a success.

Mr. Larimer, we advise you to label your jokes. Sometimes we cannot tell if you are joking or if you really mean them. Don't take this advice to seriously, for after all we would miss your jovial ways.

We advise our ever faithful taxi-driver, Mr. Juday, to devise some scheme whereby he can operate a special taxi system to accommodate the numerous basketball fans who seek transportation to the basketball games. Really Mr. Juday, we don't know how we could have gone to all of the games to support our team if it hadn't been for you.

-- Bernice Rink

CLASS PROPHECY

This is a prophecy. I've tried not to make it anything else. I was selected to write it so I'll go, "stuck" with my story.

My life-long friend, Marjorie Long and "Yours truly", early versed in adventure, set up a private Detective Agency, for the sole purpose of locating our gone but not forgotten classmates of '39.

With our so called sluething ability we thought it quite appropriate to slueth around a bit and find out where they were. We started for our old "Alma Mater" where we knew we'd find Marlin Kline coaching the future state champions. In the same department we came upon Jerry Weister nobley stepping into Miss Zook's shoes. While we were chatting as only the feminine sex can, I was called to the phone by Esther Steele, the very efficient private secretary to Elwood Kauffman, principal of H.H.S. I was pleased to learn that Virginia Groff and Lanetia Whirlodge, managers of "Ye Cozy Nook" lunch room, upon hearing that Marjorie and I were in town, invited us to a tea that afternoon. While we were resting, we picked up the Chicago Tribune and being characteristic of my friend she exclaimed while reading over my shoulder, "Well, well, it says here that Paul Worthman, ace pilot of the China Clipper, recently broke his previous non-stop flight record, accompanied by his co-pilot, Richard Rink, and reliable stewardess, Bernice Rink". I ~~didn't~~ gasp in amazement for I was expecting it. I turned the page and shifted Marge to the other shoulder where she kindly started reading aloud in my ear the theatre previews, "Goldie Rosentrader and Oliver Larimer famous comedy team were co-starred in the box office hit, "Romeo and Juliet".

By this time we were thoroughly rested and were feeling the pangs of hunger creeping on. The door of the gay little lunch room swung open and the ever well-groomed Marian Zollinger walked in with her friends, Doris Schrock and Neva Mussleman, owners of the new beauty shoppe, who had just come home from a hairdressers fashion show in New York. We were all laughing and talking when we heard the awfulest noise; we peeked through the red and white checked curtains just in time to see Franklin Long's "Bellerin Sue" disappear around the corner.

After the noise had subsided and Beulah Cripe and Ruby Rink had hurried in from their nose-grinding job of publishing the Millersburg Echo, nobly assisted by Forest Bickel, ace reporter and agriculture editor, we sat down to an appetizing lunch. All we lacked was music so we turned on the radio. Major Bowe's program was going full swing. All at once we were rendered spellbound as we listened to the golden voice of Warren Charlton. After the pause for station identification, announcer Jay Prough started his high-pressure salesmanship for the Chrysler Corporation (we always thought Jay was sold on V-8's). The next amateur we heard was Elmo,

Livingston with his mouth-harp, we heard a crash and came to the conclusion that he got the gong.

After we had eaten beyond the extent of decency, our former classmate, now Millersburg's genial traffic cop, William Hartsough, volunteered to take time off from his pressing duties and show us the country side. We went first to visit Warren Hire, who had made a grand success on his large farm south of Millersburg, but the county agriculture agent, Donald Reed, was discussing some important matter with him so we didn't interrupt.

Marjorie suggested that we spend the night in Goshen, so we stopped off at Hotel Goshen. The trim bell hop who wrestled with our bags turned out to be Jehnnie Holse with a toothsome grin stretching from ear to ear. The charming hostess Helene France (not mentioning any other name) greeted us and in the course of the conversation she mentioned that the celebrated ventriloquist, Wayne Mault and his stick of wood, called a dummy, were to make an appearance in Goshen soon. We were so tired we decided to "turn in," but we went to lounge awhile in the lobby instead and coincidentally we bumped into Mr. James Miller, important executive of General Motors, stopping at the hotel on his way to Florida where he was to vacation for several weeks.

The next morning we arose rather late and leisurely strolled down to breakfast prepared by head cook and bottlewasher, Vesta Showalter, and served by Berdene Byler, who had recently received a large prize for a painting she produced in her spare time.

I was startled out of my wits when James Weddell a Western Union messenger boy tapped me on the shoulder. I took the extended envelope and read the gracious invitation of Kathryn Minier, a famous California Surgeon's wife, to attend their 10th. wedding anniversary.

Marjorie and I quickly packed and boarded a train for "all points west". Just before we got on the train Marjorie received a letter forewarded from our Chicago office. It was from Carol Stine, Dean of Women at a girls boarding house. She wrote that Mabel Hoffer was gathering material to write a book on "How to win Friends and Influence People", (just like Dale Carnegie). She seemed to think our class was quite successful and said that Arlene Miller's book of classical poems had been accepted and was being published.

When we arrived in California, we found everything as it should be, gave our regards, retraced our steps and found ourselves on the same train as Verda and Verna Berkey, newspaper reporters traveling incognito, smoked glasses and everything.

Irma Kline always had the yearning to be a lawyer's wife, so who am I to say it didn't plan out?

When Marge and I finally came to rest in the snug little office of our agency, we looked each other in the eye and collapsed. When we "came to", the professional hand of Nurse Mildred Vance was soothing our tired brows. This detective business isn't all it's cracked up to be, so "ah's quittin' ah is"!

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF

Junior Whirlledge would turn out to be an "A" number one Jitterbug.

The Junior Class would act more like common folks instead of being so high hat.

Miss Zook would forget the word "quiet"!

Lucille had a chance to step out on Bill.

Miss Honderich would find a "Home on the Range".

Junior Rogers would be popular with the girls.

Miss Cripe would lose her patience.

The library would be a quiet restful place at any time.

Dale Fisher wouldn't have to spit out so much gum.

Franklin Long was a blond. Maybe he'd notice the brunettes a little more. How about it Franklin?

The Juniors could win the tourney next year.

The Agriculture boys would leave the thumb tacks in the bulletin board instead of elsewhere.

Dynamite Rhorer would be a "Man Mountain Dean".

Carlyle Prough would turn out to be another Robert Wadlow.

Shirley Long would decide who she wants to go with.

Jake Hartsough would forget his technique of skipping school.

Dick Lantz could keep his nose out of other peoples business.

Franklin Long wouldn't get sent to the office so often.

"The Life of Abraham Lincoln" would be as popular with the students as that of "Jesse James".

Freeman Hite would be just a little more sedate, remember Pete children should be seen and not heard!

--Helene France

RECEPTION

On Saturday evening, April fifteenth, the Juniors entertained the Seniors and Faculty, and accompanied them back to their Childhood days to visit Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs.

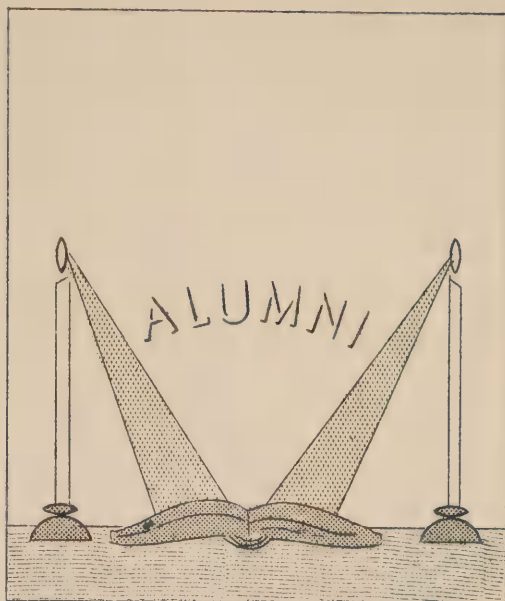

The gymnasium was effectively decorated in yellow, blue, and gray to represent the interior of a castle. To add to the setting of the castle, light was furnished by candles. Much attention was given to the beautifully decorated glen on the stage.

Music added to the three course dinner which was served to the group of ninety.

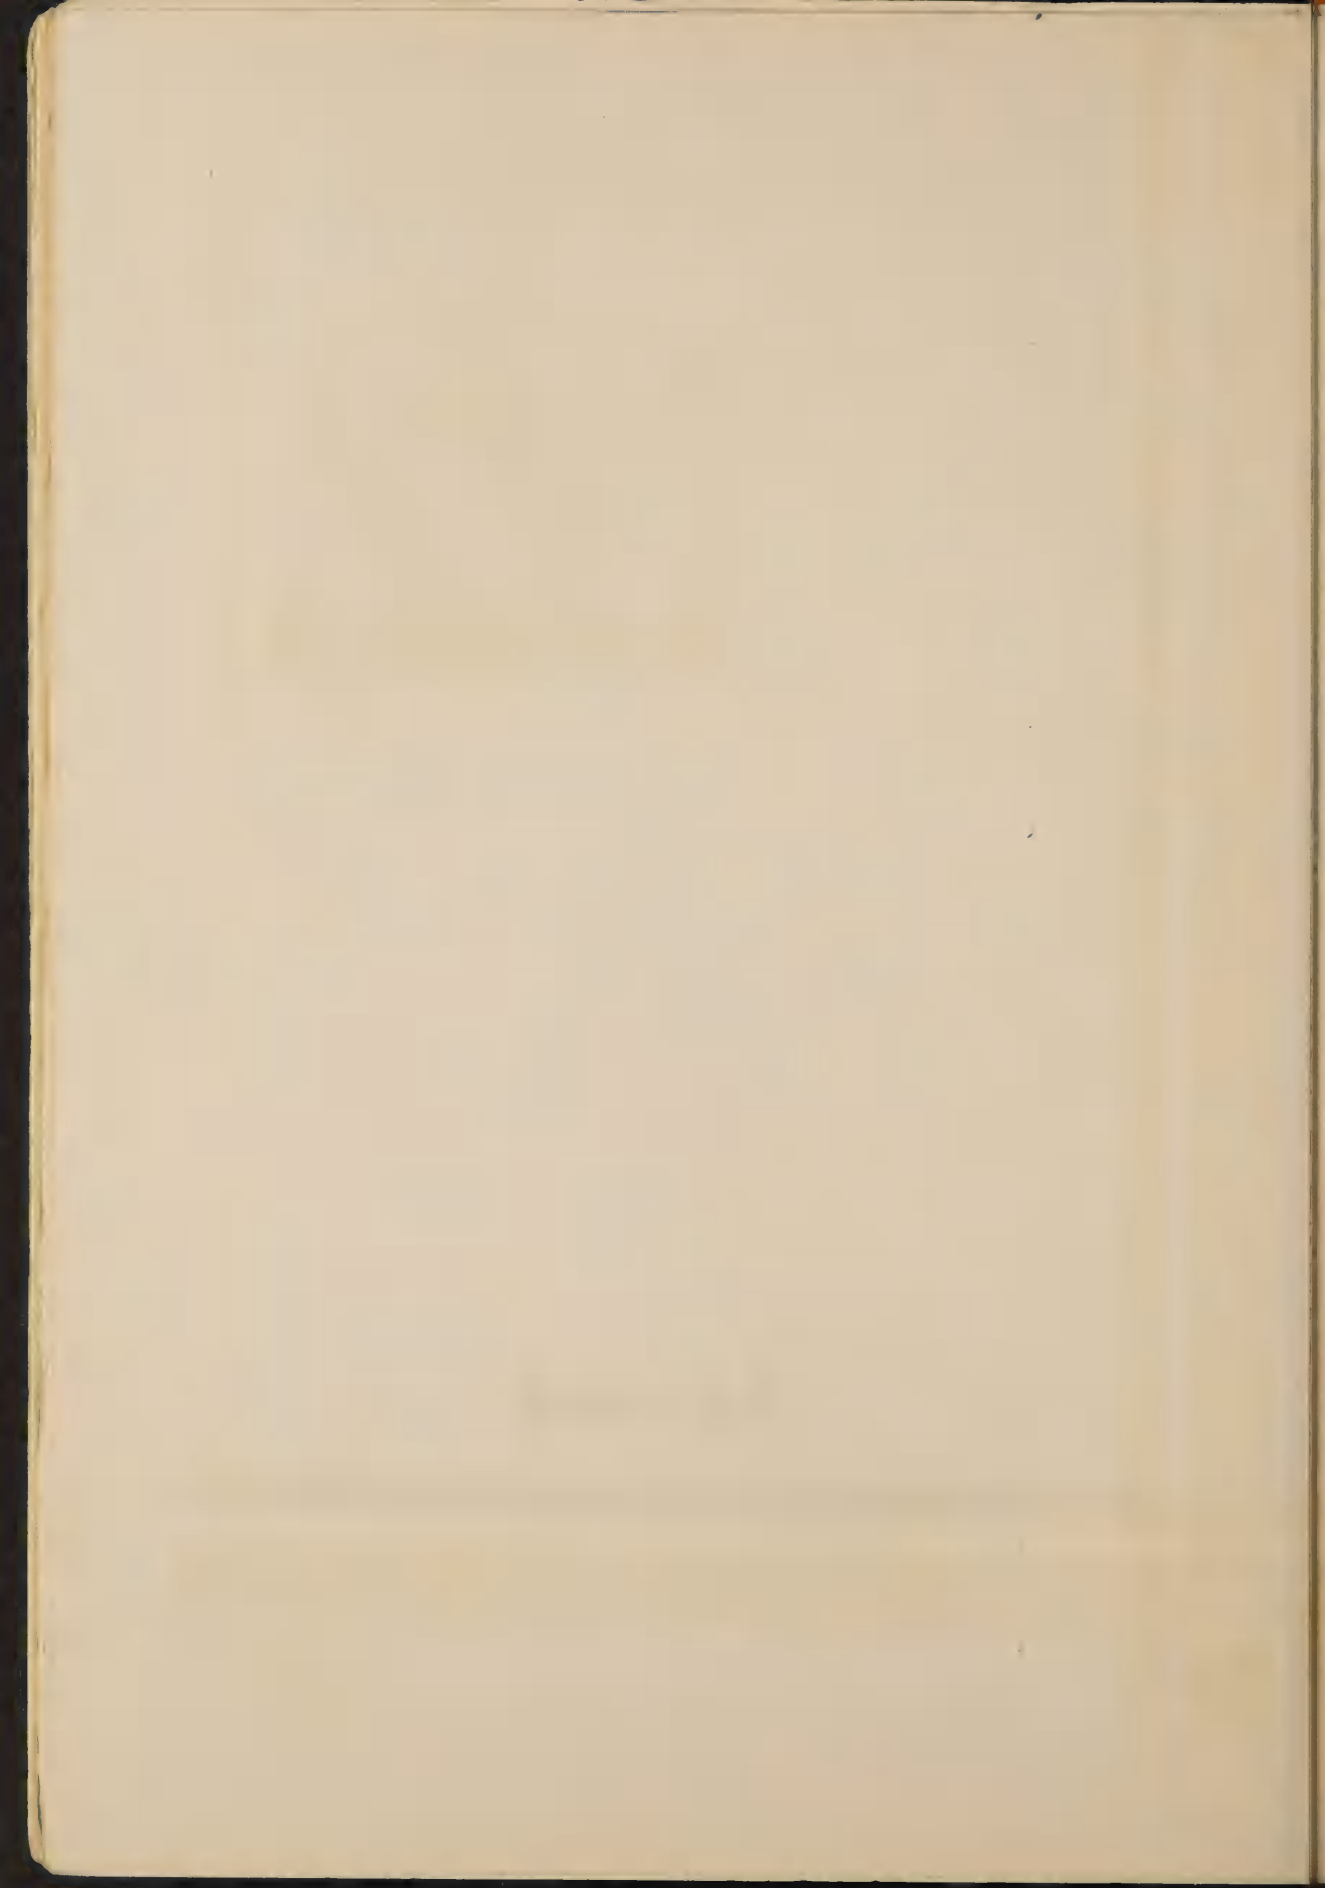

Following the dinner, a few appropriate remarks were made by Elwood Kauffman, Arlene Miller, Sheldon McClain, Lucille Long, Mr. Luke, and Mr. Larimer. Robert Long acted as toast master.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The Alumni Association of the Millersburg High School which includes all those who have graduated from this school, is an organization of which the High School can well be proud. At different times the Alumni had attempted to organize an association but not until the spring of 1926 were their dreams finally accomplished.

During the latter part of this term of school Mr. J. J. Kent the principal of the High School, called together some of the Alumni and they laid plans of organizing an Alumni Association. A committee was appointed to draw up a set of by laws to govern its activities. A banquet was planned and held in the basement of the Lutheran Church. At this first meeting the organization was completed with the election of officers and it was voted to hold an Alumni meeting each year on the first Saturday evening after the close of school. This has been carried out annually since its organization.

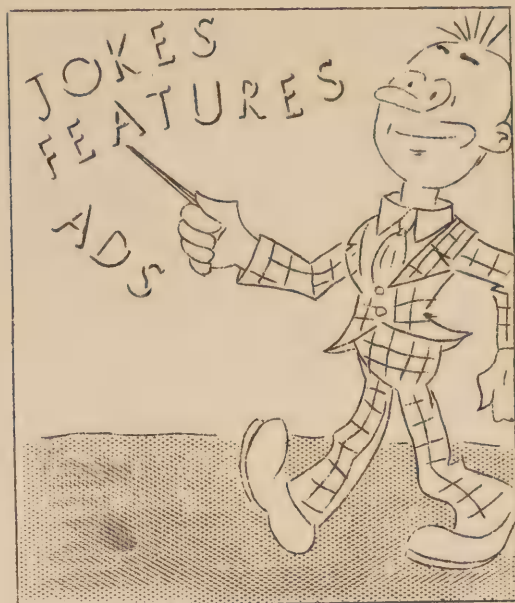

The association at present has 418 members who are graduates and a number who are members by virtue of the services rendered as teachers in the M. H. S.

We, as Alumni look to our Alma Mater with a mingled feeling of respect and gratitude for the high standards with which it sent us forth to compete with the problems of Life. These ideals were so capably imparted to us that without due thought we do not realize the extent to which they have governed our lives.

As an organization, it is our conviction that these same standards of training, of citizenship, of character building, of sportsmanship and of academic work shall not be impaired, but will, with increasing velocity, be raised to even greater heights. It is our desire that our school shall continue to be conducted in such manner that we will be proud to accept the graduates of this institution into our Alumni Association.

CALENDAR

Days may come and days may go
 Yet somehow they are not the same
 This our school calendar will show
 Since the first school day in September came.
 September brought salesmen all the way through
 Buying seemed to be for the Seniors to do.
 November came with many a celebration
 And parts for the "Operetta" were planned.
 Then came the night of the Gym's dedication
 As eyes the new building scanned.
 During December there were opened books
 Preparation for exams that were in sight.
 There were many despairing and hopless looks--
 Some looked more joyful on the Operetta night.
 Vacation passed and was then a blot,
 Came the New Year with a new resolution.
 On January 12, the Seniors were "shot";
 Everyone thought it the cameras' conclusion.
 On Friday, January 13, an unlucky day
 Mr. Luke had an accident and from school had to stay.

Then the Seniors woke up, and forgetting
 dignity and pride,
 In February had a party---and did they slide!

FORD SALES   AND SERVICE

Dear Folks:

Have you noticed how many of the most prominent people in the community are driving new Ford V-8s?

There is a reason for their choice. Some of the new features of a Ford are Hydraulic Brakes, Stabilized Chassis, Triple cushion comfort, Scientific Sound Proofing, V-8 Engines, and Style Leadership.

We want you to find out about these new features. That is why we invite you to drive a new Ford as our guest any time during the year. It will be a new motoring experience for you.

Sincerely yours,

HOLTZINGERS GARAGE
MILLERSBURG, IND

MILLERSBURG AND THE SURROUNDING COMMUNITY IS BLEST WITH MORE OF THESE FINE SPIRITED FOLKS THAN MOST COMMUNITIES. WITH THIS IN MIND WE HOPE TO BE OF SERVICE TO EACH OF YOU.

It was Billy's first trip to the country. Outside the farmhouse, he saw the farmer's wife plucking a fowl for dinner and asked:

"Pardon me, Ma'm, but do you undress them every night?"

Scotchman (listening to Sunday service over the radio):

"Quick, turn off the radio."

Son: "What's the matter, father?"

Scotchman: "They're about to take up the collection."

"Just making pants for the little orphans," explained young William as he gleefully continued to slide down the banisters.

Never go in the water after a hearty meal; you'll never find it there.

"Here, boy," said the important-looking gentleman who was visiting a tenement house, "Where does Mr. Block live?"

"Come with me, sir," said the boy, seeing a handsome tip on the way.

Entering a doorway he started to climb the difficult stairs. Up four flights he went, followed by the breathless visitor. Finally he reached an open door, "This is the door," the boy announced.

Seeing no-one, the man remarked, "Look's as though we won't see him here to-day."

"No, sir, this is where he lives; that was Mr. Block sitting on the doorstep as we came in."

Mother: "Another bite like that and you will have to leave the table."

Hungry Boy: "Another bite like that and I'll be through."

Teacher: "Johnny, name two collective nouns."

Johnny: "A waste paper basket and a vacuum cleaner."

Father to Son: "Son, I am spanking you because I love you."

Son to Father: "Gee, Dad, I wish I was big enough to return your love."

"I'm sorry to have to do this," said Bobbie, as he spread the jam on baby's face, "but I can't have suspicion pointing its finger at me."

The radio is getting so popular in some of the fraternity houses that whenever someone asks what time it is, the answer comes back:

"Half past Charlie McCarthy, or fifteen minutes till Mouse."
